

Matt-Cloud Media

Jellyfin has seen some updates, and some enterprising individual has written an OIDC plugin for Jellyfin. I have set up a new Mattflix at <https://media.matt-cloud.com> that has SSO available. The SSO syncs with LDAP perfectly, and I will be re-routing the old domain over at some point. I also got rid of the other do-nothing buttons on the home page.

This is the new login page. Note the SSO login at the bottom, please use it for ease of use, though the username/password fields will work.

The image shows the Jellyfin login interface. At the top left is the Jellyfin logo. The main heading is "Please sign in". Below this are two input fields: "User" and "Password". There is a "Remember Me" checkbox with a checkmark. A large blue "Sign In" button is centered below the fields. At the bottom center is a smaller blue button labeled "Sign in with SSO".

When you login, you will see this. It should be fairly self explanatory from here if you have ever used a video streaming website.

